On June 12, Life on the Douro, Zev Robinson's documentary about the 300 year history of the Port-producing region in Portugal, will be screened in four parts, each with a different matching Quevedo Port and Rococo Chocolate, at Gallery Different, 14 Percy Street, London W1T 1DR.

Life on the Douro, trailer - <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=eFeEJlIDJ-I> transmits the wonders of its magnificent landscape of steep terraced vineyards and complex and rich history with direct ties to the present. Interviews with many of the direct descendants of those who founded the region and newer producers that have helped revive it lend an oral history to the development of Life on the Douro, as well as an explanation about the nature and types of Port.

The Quevedo winery <http://quevedoportwine.com/>, featured in the documentary, will provide the Port, and Portuguese wine importer Miguel will be on hand to talk about Port. Premium quality Rococo Chocolates <https://www.rococochocolates.com> will provide the finest quality chocolates, with its founder, Chantal Coady, OBE, there to explain the pairing.

Besides what is served during the screening, each guest will get a small bag with a Rococo Chocolate bar and a mini 5cl bottle of Ruby or Rose Port wine to take home with them.

The event is part of an exhibition of Robinson's paintings of food and amphora - <http://theartandpoliticsofeating.com/paintings> at Gallery Different <http://www.gallerydifferent.co.uk> and his artist residency at the Michelin starred restaurant Pied a Terre <http://theartandpoliticsofeating.com/pied-a-terre> about which he has directed a documentary, premiering at a very special event on June 6.
